1. Give your impression by means of a drawing.

2. Describe and explain your drawing: (about 80 words)

The drawing is about the Egyptian guides who instruct as many as a hundred thousand slaves to build the Great Pyramid of Giza. People in the drawing who are thin and wearing simple and crude cloths are the slaves. They look upset as most of them are not willing to build those huge pyramids. They are transporting heavy building materials such as limestone, granite, etc. It is an extremely hard work. They build the pyramids by using iron hammers, chisels and levers.

3. Comment and Sharing: (about 100 words)

I have learned many things after reading this book, such as the details of the burial process of the Ancient Egyptians. People who live there will be given happiness in the afterlife. They also believe that it is important to take good care of the pharaoh's dead body. Everything requested by a pharaoh in the afterlife will also be placed in the tomb, including the things made of clay, stone and gold. They even placed the things such as furniture, food, figures of the pharaoh's servants, etc. inside the tomb. This action is very important to the Egyptians in the old days.
